AMMA accord preserv exhibition entitled “Reeds” by prominent Iraqi artist Leila Kubba Kavash. Kawash, who is a gallery owner in Beirut, has sent to The Jordan Times. The painting is a large abstract work featuring vertical brushstrokes in shades of yellow, orange, and blue, resembling reeds in a marsh. The woman is holding a smartphone and glasses. A small inset image shows a newspaper clipping from 'THE JORDAN TIMES' with the headline 'King inaugurates second phase of Royal Botanic Garden'.

According to Leila, the marshes are the remains of an unchanging phenomenon. Leila has a brushstrokes reminiscent of Van Gogh and yet, they are very relevant to the subject.

Her vast canvases allow dynamism in the details, but also show the peacefulness of the area, the
